1. Read the text below and answer the questions. (2x10=20p)

Everyone experiences difficult moments and stressful situations in life. Psychologists suggest that instead of panicking during an "emotional storm", people should try to ground themselves. Taking up a new hobby, walking in nature, or talking to a close friend can easily distract you from negative thoughts and boost your self-esteem. Such activities not only keep your mind peaceful but also make you feel more confident against the fear of failure.

A. According to psychologists, what should people do during an "emotional storm"?

B. According to the text, what are some activities that can easily distract you from negative thoughts?

2. Fill in the blanks according to the given text. (3x10=30p)

We are proud to announce a new charity campaign designed to support the homeless people in our city. As a dedicated local organization, our main goal is to provide them with a safe environment and warm meals during the freezing winter months. With your generous donations, these disadvantaged individuals can survive the harsh conditions on the streets. We deeply appreciate your continuous support and kindness.

a. The campaign is designed to support the _____ people in the city.

b. The organization aims to provide them with warm meals and a safe _____ during winter.

c. Thanks to the _____ donations of people, disadvantaged individuals can survive harsh conditions.
